Transfer Credit Policy and Procedures

I. Purpose of Procedure. The purpose of this policy is to establish a formal agreement between two or more institutions of higher education regarding a specific academic program.

A course designed to prepare a student for transfer credit shall not apply toward a degree program that provides for an evaluation of a student's academic program at an institution that is accredited by a regional or national accrediting agency.

Transfer credit for a course should be granted only if the student is positioned to succeed in subsequent courses in the program. For example, students who have completed a course in a program that is not required for the program will not receive credit for that course. The University of Scranton will accept any credits defined by the institution that has approved.

The University of Scranton will accept credit from a regionally accredited institution, including a college or university through prior learning assessment or a regionally accredited institution.

The University of Scranton will accept credit from a regionally accredited institution outside the United States. The UofS shall accept credit for courses completed outside the United States that are equivalent to the UofS course (1.00 credit).

Transfer credit for non-degree courses shall not be granted undergraduate certificate or degree program completion. The University of Scranton shall be responsible for evaluating all transfer credit.
